

The Three Tomatoes

(Inspired by "The Three Little Pigs")

One day the three tomatoes decided to build a house. The medium tomato was building a house of straws. The small tomato was building a house of sticks. The big tomato was building a house of bricks.

When the three tomatoes finished their houses, they went inside them but a pickle came. He was a very mean pickle. He wanted the three tomatoes for dinner!

He huffed and puffed which made the small and medium houses blew away! They ran away from the mean pickle.

When they ran away from the mean pickle they saw the big tomato's house. The mean pickle came and was surprised! The three tomatoes were safe.

The mean pickle was angry and ran away. ...
... and they lived happily ever after!
